

PROJECT 1320 – GET INVOLVED!

The Quarter Mile Foundation is a not-for-profit, 501(c) 3 educational foundation. Its' primary goal is the production of the PROJECT 1320 documentary, which will capture the history of drag racing and the birth of the performance automotive aftermarket – from the post World War II period to the end of the 1980s. It will also serve as a historical repository of film, photographs, negatives, documents and other similar materials for the sport and the performance automotive aftermarket.

PROJECT 1320 documentary will feature first-person interviews of the surviving pioneers as they tell their story from a unique, personal point of view. Some of today's heroes will be featured, but it will focus on yesterday's legends as they tell of their experiences and explain the Who, What, Why, When, Where and How of the sport's early days and how it grew. You will also see how a multi-billion dollar industry – the performance automotive aftermarket – grew with the sport as ingenious racers built new parts to make their race cars go faster, and then sold them to their fellow competitors.
